

PRESS RELEASE date 19th April 2016

Fairport Engineering Limited

Barruecopardo Progress Update

FAIRPORT ENGINEERING SELECTED TO DELIVER THE CONSTRUCTION MANAGEMENT CONTRACT

FOR THE BARRUECOPARDO TUNGSTEN MINING PROJECT

Saloro SL has awarded the Construction Management Contract for their Barruecopardo Tungsten Project in Salamanca, Spain to Fairport Engineering.

The detailed engineering works for the process plant are now well advanced. Equipment contracts have been placed by Saloro including the supply and installation of a turnkey Crushing and Screening Plant as well as the supply of a standalone jig pre-concentration circuit. These contracts are being managed by Fairport Engineering to ensure timely fabrication and delivery.

Fairport has previous mineral process experience in Spain and will be acting as Principal Contractor on the site for Saloro SL with responsibility for the safe management and coordination of process equipment suppliers and subcontractors.

In 2013, Ormonde Mining plc through its Spanish subsidiary Saloro SL appointed Fairport Engineering Ltd as its "Engineer and Designer" to review and develop the basic engineering design for their Barruecopardo project. Fairport was commissioned by Saloro in March of 2014 to carry out the Basic Engineering study for the Project and has been advancing the Detailed Engineering since June 2015.

About Fairport Engineering Limited

Fairport Engineering has a long history developing and delivering engineering projects for the Mineral, Quarry, Cement, Coal, Power, Biomass, Alternative Fuel, Advanced Recycling, Waste, Ports and other heavy industries. The company specialises in developing bulk materials processing and handling projects from concept to handover, partnering with clients through the various project phases. Fairport has wide ranging experience within the UK including participation in the design, installation and commissioning of a minerals processing facility in Spain, managing local experienced construction companies.

Enquiries to:

Linda White, Communications Manager. Email: lwhite@fairport.co.uk