Tuesday 18th October 2011
at Imago, Holywell Park Conference Centre, Loughborough University

SHAPA

The Solids Handling and Processing Association (SHAPA) has been the voice of the industry for nearly 30 years. It is recognised as the UK's leading specialist association in its field and has grown to become the foremost authority on all matters technical, commercial, legal and professional relating to the industry.

Conference

This Powder & Bulk Solids Industry Conference is being held on Tuesday 18th October 2011 at the centrally located Imago, Holywell Park Conference Centre on the Loughborough University site in Leicestershire. The venue is five minutes from junction 23 of the M1 motorway. It will be a must for both suppliers and users of solids handling equipment.

The Agenda includes Keynote Addresses where you can learn about the current outlook for the UK economy from Pamela Wright of the Bank of England, hear about export opportunities from Tim Jelly of UKTI and how to minimising your legal liability risk from Simon Bates of law firm Harvey Ingram LLP.

Delegates will also be able to select individual sessions from two parallel streams of presentations covering the latest ideas and thinking on solids handling, fan selection and acoustic techniques and hear about the requirements of the minerals industry

In addition to the presentations there will be Discussion Groups where delegates can benefit from hearing and discussing fellow delegates' experiences on the specific presentation topics and the opportunity to speak with some SHAPA members who will be illustrating their company's capabilities at table top displays.

Delegate places are strictly limited, so anyone who is interested in attending should complete the registration form and return it by email to info@shapa.co.uk or by phoning John Whitehead, General Secretary, on 0116 2713704

Who should attend?

Production/Works/Site/Processing Managers and Engineers, Suppliers of Solids Handling equipment, Project Managers and Consultants involved in the Handling/Processing of loose Bulk Solid Materials and Powders.

What will you gain?

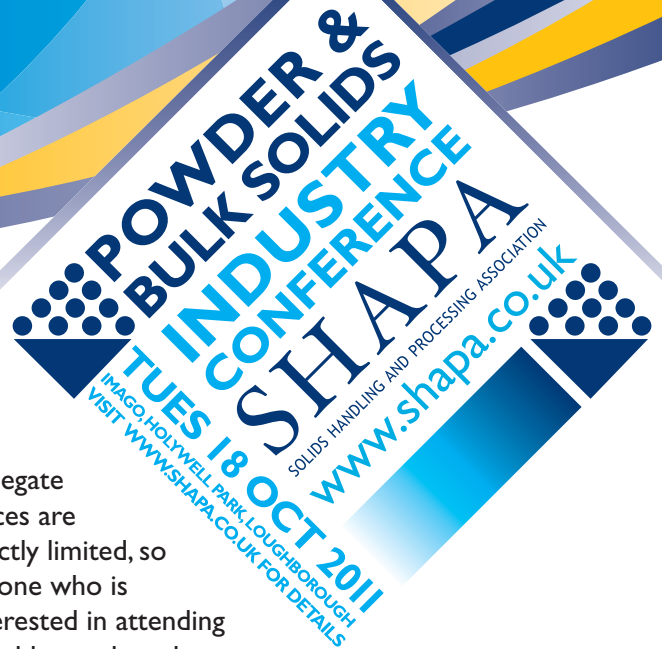

In addition to the knowledge obtained from the Keynote addresses you could benefit from many of the following through your selection of topic sessions:

- Get an understanding of how to comply with noise regulations, select the best fan solutions and save energy
- Learning about the benefits of good dust control capture hoods and a new solution for controlling dust from bulk out loading
- Understanding how product quality can be improved and difficult products can be handled and discharged
- An insight into the UK Minerals industry
- Making Business contacts
- Information to help you plan for the future
